JOHN MORTON,
Has just received per the Hopewell, Capt. SMITH, from LONDON.

A Neat and general Assortment of Goods suitable for the Season, which will be sold on the very lowest Terms, at his Store in Queen-Street, near the Fly-Market.

On Sunday Evening arrived the Grace, Captain
Chambers, from Bristol, and the Albany, Capt.
Richards, from London, by whom we have the following ADVICES, viz.

PETERSBOURG, August 11.
THE General Romanzoff only makes the loss of the Turks 20,000 men. All the principal officers who are taken prisoners assure us, that it is not less than 40,000: and that the Grand Vizir had only 15,000 men to repass the Danube with him, leaving in the possession of the conquerors, all the baggage belonging to the army, the military chest, and upwards of 200 pieces of cannon.

Constantinople, Aug. 3. It is just now reported, that the Russians had already attacked our fort at the Dardanelles, and greatly damaged one of them, notwithstanding the warm reception they met with.

Dalmatia, Aug. 12. It is said that Admiral Elphinstone has forced the passage of the Dardanelles, and got into the sea of Marmora; but neither the date nor particulars of this event are mentioned.

Neustadt, Sept. 4. Yesterday noon the King of Prussia arrived here, and alighted from his coach before he came to the head-quarters, where his Imperial Majesty waited to receive him. The inhabitants of this city were extremely affected at the meeting of these two great monarchs, inasmuch that as they went together to the quarters allotted for the King of Prussia, most of the people kneeled down as they passed along. In the evening there was an opera. The grand manoeuvres will begin this day.

Warsaw, Sept. 5. The second instant a courier arrived here with an account that the whole Crim Tartary had renounced all alliance with the Turks, and had thrown themselves under the protection of the Russians, preserving still their own liberty and privileges.

Paris, Sept. 10. The parliament have issued an arret concerning what passed in the Bed of Justice on the 3d; wherein it is said, "That the many acts of arbitrary power exercised against both the spirit and letter of the constitution of the French monarchy, and indeed against the solemn vow of the King, leave no room to doubt of a premeditated project to change the form of government: but that the parliament, inviolably attached to the laws, will still without ceasing make it their aim to carry truth to the foot of the throne, and continue more and more to give proof of their fidelity and their love of an orderly, firm, and steady conduct, notwithstanding all the endeavours that have been used to throw them into trouble and confusion by the repeated acts of rigour exercised against them."

LONDON, September 10.
AT the late visit of a certain Ambassador to Lord Weymouth, it is said, that he insisted knowing the destination of our men of war now sitting out, but his Lordship assured him, that the English would by no means be accountable to any nation on that head: Upon which the Ambassador replied, that if the English thought proper to drive his country into a war, his Court would be prepared for it; and immediately turning on his heel, abruptly left the English Minister.

Sept. 11. They write from Paris, that some important political Transactions are now on the tapis between that Court and the Genoese Republic.

L---d C---n, it is now well known, will not accept the Seals, unless his Friend L---d C---m has, either publicly or privately, the Direction of Affairs.

It is said that Col L--- has resigned the Post of Adjutant-General to the Army in Ireland, to which he was lately appointed. The following Reason is assigned for this Resignation; upwards of 150 Officers have sent over Letters to the Secretary of State, desiring Leave to reign their Commissions, and for no other Reason, but because Mr. L--- was their Adjutant. The Administration, foreseeing the disagreeable Consequences that might probably ensue, from continuing Mr. L--- in his Office, prudently demanded his Resignation.

Sept. 13. It was observed by a great Man at a late most respectable Meeting, that France and Spain were unfaithful as to the Observance of Treaties subsisting between them and this Nation; but that the Behaviour of Portugal;
for a long Time past, has been Ingratitude itself.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, September 5.

"Some Politicians here are of Opinion, that notwithstanding the Pains which the Minister of this Court, and that of Great-Britain, seem to take, in order to maintain the Peace between the two Nations, Affairs are nevertheless in such a Situation, as it will be impossible to regulate them to mutual Satisfaction, without coming to an open Rupture."

Sept. 15. The Acquiescence of the People of New-York will so far abridge the American business, that the Parliament, which stood prorogued to November, will be further prorogued till the Beginning of January.

We hear a Fleet of Observation is intended to be stationed to cruise between the Land's End and Capt-Finisterre.

Extract of a Letter from Warsaw, August 10.

"Advice has been received at Lemberg, that General Tottleben had gained a complete Victory over the Turks, commanded by four Bashiaws in Armenia, the Consequence of which was the taking of Erzerum. The Turks lost upon this Occasion 6000 Men, 15 Pieces of Cannon, several Staffs of Command, Horses Tails, and a great Number of Tents."

Extract of a Letter from Gibraltar, to a Merchant in London, dated August 21.

"Yesterday we received Advice, by a Vessel which put in here to deliver some Dispatches from London, that a few Days before, she fell in with a Spanish Fleet, consisting of six Ships of the Line, and as many Frigates, besides Bomb-ketches and Store-ships, steering towards the Mediterranean: She expected to be brought to, and examined, but they lay by, and continued to till it was dark, when she saw no more of them. This Account did not at all alarm us, as our Garrison is very healthy, well supplied with provisions, and the Fortifications repaired, and in good Order."

It is certain that the Spanish Ambassador has presented a Memorial to our Ministry from his Court, touching some Infracts that Nation is said to have met with from the English in the South Seas.

The last Hand has just been put to a definitive Treaty between the Courts of Versailles, Madrid, Vienna, and Stockholm.

Six Guardships are ordered to be stationed along the North-American Coast.

Dispatches of Importance, relative to the secret Machinations of the Spanish Court, it is said, have been very late received from Gibraltar.

It is said that a Patent has passed the Seal, appointing Thomas Hutchinson, Esq; Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts-Bay, to be Governor of that Province.

Sept. 18. Letters received on Friday brought an Account, that 6 Russian Men of War had attacked the Gallies of the Dardanelles, but without Success. It is said in this Attack two of their ships were destroyed.

Yesterday Dispatches arrived in Town from the Court of Portugal; it is said a Change in the Ministry of that Kingdom was hourly expected.

A great Personage is reported to have declared it as his Wish, that a speedy Reconciliation may be effected between Britain and her Colonies.

There are Letters in Town from Constantinople, which inform, that unhappy City now labours under all the Horrors of an approaching Famine, there being at present a great Scarcity; all the Supplies, both from the Black Sea and the Propontis being cut off by the Russians.

Bishop Lloyd, many Years since, foretold from the Revelations the Destruction of the Turkish Empire: Whiston, who was laughed at by the Wits for it, actually fixed the final Ruin of the Ottomans to the present Period, or very near it.

A Letter is received from the Carysfort Frigate at Madeira, which mentions a Skirmish their Boat's Crew had with another belonging to a Portuguese Vessel, wherein three of the Carysfort's People were killed, and several wounded.

Lord H---'s Return from Ireland, it is said, was commanded a few Days ago by Express.

It is said that the Portuguese Minister has offered all reasonable Satisfaction for the late Infracts offered to the British Merchants at Lisbon.

Postscript of a Letter from Paris, Sept. 12.

"A Report is privately circulated here, which daily gains Credit, viz. that this Court is now fitting out, with all Expedition, a formidable Squadron, to follow the Russians to the Dardanelles, and to attack them. The ostensible Foundation of this Quarrel will be, the Interruption of the French Trade in the Levant by the Russian Fleet."

Several Persons were pressed Yesterday in Newgate-Street.
As soon as the Press Warrants were issued out, the French and Spanish Ambassadors sent Dispatches with the Intelligence to their respective Courts.

We are assured, from very good Authority, the Parliament is to meet on Tuesday, the 13th Day of November next.

We are assured from the best Authority, that there is not the least Truth in the Report through Holland of an Insurrection at Constantinople, or that any of the Ambassadors there have been put to Death, or even molested.

Sept. 22. A press warrant is no more legal than a general warrant.

A gentleman who arrived in town on Thursday night from Southampton, met that morning a body of sailors, consisting of about 90; soon after he met another party of upwards of 70, all of them with large sticks, &c. in their hands. The gentleman inquired the reason of their marching in that manner; they replied that they had walked all night from London to escape being pressed, and that they were going to Southampton and other places to seek for bread. The gentleman gave them some money to drink, upon which they gave him three cheers, and continued their route. It is conjectured they are a part of those impressed men who escaped from on board the tender last Wednesday evening.

Lord Edgumbe and Admiral Geary are to have the command of the present armament.

Notwithstanding the great naval preparations, there are not wanting some who pretend to believe that we shall not have a war. By virtue of Great Britain's treaty with Russia, they say, we are obligated to furnish that nation with a large fleet of ships when called upon, and give this as the present reason of our armaments. However 16 men of war are all they pretend to demand, whereas there are already upwards of thirty ships of the line ordered to be got ready, besides frigates.

It is amazing how difficult it is to guess at the political question now in every one's mouth; Are we to have a war? The variety of interests which rule men here, guides accordingly every one's opinion: the stock holder swears it is all a hum, but trembles at the fall of 3 per cents. The Russian merchant, from the state of things in the Mediterranean,
thinks the French will be meddling; and consequently we shall be brought in too; because in that case he will get 20 per cent. on his naval stores;
and so it runs from the 'Change to St. James's.

Lord North pledged his word in a certain place some time since, that we should have no war for ten years.

It is notorious, says the L. Ev. Post, that the French and Spaniards have, for many months, been fitting out ships of war in all their ports, as well upon the Atlantic, as the Mediterranean seas. Our Ministry pretend to be ignorant of these alarming, obvious, and well known transactions. If you ask one of them, Whether the French intend to impede the progress of the Russians in the Mediterranean? their ready-made answer is, The French have no fleet fit to put to sea. If you should demand, Whether the Spaniards have sent a number of ships to seize Falkland's island, to drive our people away, and to keep possession of it? they have an answer ready for that question also, — It is a very immaterial matter—not worth disputing about—if the King of Spain will have it, why let him have it! and to on to every other question you can possibly ask, the answers are all prepared.

We are told that the Spanish Ambassador, in consequence of Lord Weymouth's intimation, has since applied to a great crown officer on the subject of the ludicrous letter, and received for answer, "That a subject of Great Britain not being at liberty to prosecute his Spanish Majesty, neither has the King of Spain any power of prosecuting a British subject." Upon this second disappointment, it is said, his Excellency has given Lord Weymouth to understand, that the K. of Spain has two reasons to justify his drawing his sword against Great Britain. One of these is the affair of the Falkland Islands; the other the embrace that his Majesty had taken at this letter which describes him as a fool. The Ambassador has actually sent an express to Madrid for instructions.

Several private accounts from France assure us, that the Ministry are apprehensive of an actual rebellion, in various parts of that kingdom; and all accounts agree, that Louis, so long denominated The Beloved, is now become the general execration of his subjects, and that more publicly than can well be imagined.

It is said, that the late Richard Hussey, Esq; attorney general to the Queen, and member for East Looe in Cornwall, died worth 400,000l. most part of which he had acquired by his mines in Cornwall.

The exact number of the Turkish fleet destroyed by the Russians in the late decisive engagement off Scio, is as follows, viz. six ships from 80 to 90 guns. Seven from 60 to 70 guns. Four frigates, and a great number of chebecs, galleys, &c.

Monf. Mutschin Puschin, the Russian Ambassador, set off on Wednesday for Dover, to settle a dispute that has arisen between the English and Russians in the fleet that is lately arrived, respecting the flag. — The English masters of the transports refuse to proceed with the Russians to the Mediterranean, under the terms proposed by the Russian Commander, to bear the Russian flag; for it is usual, on all occasions, where British transports have been employed in the conveying foreign troops, to bear the English flag: besides on this occasion it was peculiarly proper; for suppose the French, whose designs are suspected, should intercept the Russians in their way to join those of their countrymen who are now in the Archipelago, while they were under Russian colours, the transports might become captures to the French, and the English on board be made captives; which, while they went under the British flag, the French dared not attempt, without bringing on them that which they might in the end repent. But however, this dispute may be adjudged by the instructions the Ambassador will give the Russian Commander.

We hear that Mr. Dalrymple will soon set out, in order to make the new settlement in the East Indies, which has been several years in agitation; and from whence great additional advantages to the commerce of the India Company are hoped to be reaped.

The new settlement proposed to be made by the India Company, is in consequence of a plan concerted betwixt Lord Pigot, when Governor of Madras, and Mr. Dalrymple; and at a place surveyed by the latter, in a voyage made for that purpose.

Sept. 25. The Favourite sloop is just arrived at the Mother Bank, from Falkland Island, and brings advice, that 5 Spanish frigates, with land forces and artillery, arrived there the 24th of June last, and dispossessed his Majesty's forces of our settlements on that island. — The Spaniards permitted the sloop to come home and bring off the people, upon condition that they should not serve against Spain, if a war should break out between England and that Crown.

To sons of despotism, who sneered at Lord Chatham's assertion in the House of Peers last session, "that a blow had, or soon would be struck," with what shame are ye now covered? Do ye not (to use Lord Pomfret's beautiful metaphor) "hold down your heads like bulrushes, and blink like owls in the face of the sun?"

It is allowed on all hands, that Lord Chatham, when Minister, had the most early intelligence of the measures and movements of foreign Courts, of any man since Oliver Cromwell. It is now certain, that his Lordship's intelligence in his private capacity is equal to that in his public. The Earl's assertion last session, in the House, that an hostile blow against Great Britain was at that moment struck in a remote quarter of the world, was treated by the Ministerial hirelings, in and out of doors, as the rash and silly assertion of a madman; there remains, however, now but little doubt of our being no longer in possession of Falkland Island; and (to the honour of this great man) that this was the blow which his lordship then adverted to.

The news of five Spanish ships of war, with their forces, dispossessing the English of Falkland's Island, and its being now in the invaders hands, is confirmed.

The Falkland Islands are situated near the Straits of Magellan, at the utmost extremity of South America. They might be of great consequence to this nation, even in time of peace, as they are very convenient for a place of general rendezvous, to rest and refresh all our vessels coming from the South Seas; and in time of war, would make us masters of those seas; every good port of which is now possessed by the Spaniards. By our having the possession of one good harbour there, and keeping the royal navy on a respectable footing, we should have nothing to fear from all the united force of France, Spain, and Portugal. Whoever turns his eye to the map of America, and observes the number of our settlements, and their situation, in respect to the possessions of those powers, in this quarter, will see the impossibility of their trade escaping the vigilance of our cruisers, pouring out from every corner of that immense country. Add to this, that having hitherto attempted their colonies with success, what may we not expect in a future war, from such additional strength, so many convenient harbours to rest, or to supply our fleets and armies?

The sloop just arrived from Port Egmont brings an account of her having been beat off the island by the Spaniards three several times.

A categorical answer has been demanded from the Court of Spain, whether they would immediately relinquish all pretensions to Falkland's island.

It is said Lord Chatham is much against the tedious form of demanding the restitution of Falkland island from the Spaniards; his Lordship, as they have first begun hostilities, being of opinion that some important blow should be struck immediately on our part.

Batts of 100 to 20 are now laid, that a war commences before the 1st of November next.

The Lords of the Admiralty are so perfectly convinced of the French and Spanish hostile measures, that they can't act quick enough to be upon a footing with them.

Advice has been again received, that there are ten Spanish sail of the line, with between 3 and 4000 troops, hovering about Jamaica, and the Leeward islands. Intelligence of this, we are assured, was transmitted also near three months since by Commodore Forester, a few days before his death.

This morning early an extraordinary packet sailed with instructions to the Governor of Jamaica.

We hear that all the companies of the several regiments, both horse and foot, are ordered to be completed by the last day of the next month at farthest.

It is said that a draught of six men is to be made from each regiment of dragoons in Britain, who are to serve as troops in the royal regiment of Horse-guard blues.

Three regiments of foot are ordered on board the fleet as marines.

Orders are given for twenty sail of transports to be engaged on Government contract.

The naval armament now fitting out, is certainly in consequence of the discovery of the author of the fire at Portsmouth.

It is said that the Lieutenant of an armed cutter, who attempted to board the Duke of Richmond East Indiaman, with an attempt to press the men, was shot dead by a sailor belonging to the Indiaman; and in revenge the cutter fired a broadside into the Indiaman, whereby four of the crew were killed.

A fleet of colliers are arrived in Yarmouth Roads, the crews of which hearing that press-warrants were to be issued out in a few days, left their ships and went on shore, and have refused to navigate the ships to London, till protections can be procured for them from the Admiralty.

If every pick pocket as soon as detected, was to be sent to some rendezvous for sailors, it would be a means of terrifying, as well as reducing, the number of those gentry.

The Lord Mayor has not signed the press warrants. He has had an altercation on the matter with the Lords of the Admiralty, and the regulating Captains have been ordered to make a submission to his Lordship for having dared to appear, or attempt to press any one in the City.

It is asserted, that some gentlemen belonging to the society of the Bill of Rights, are determined to try the validity of press warrants.

Extract of a letter from Plymouth, Sept. 21. "Last night press warrants were sent hither, and early this morning the press-gangs went on board the merchant ships, and stripped them of all the hands they thought useful, before it was known in the town. They secured the impressed men in a tender, came on shore, and in the public houses and in the streets picked up many good sailors. The men of war fitted out here have taken in all their stores; and will be ready to sail as soon as the marines can be put on board; but that cannot with safety be done till a marching regiment comes into town to do duty in their room."

We are assured, that for some time past a very Great personage has been closely employed in reading Sidney, Locke, and some other celebrated writers on government.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, dated Sept. 6. "Our situation becomes every day more critical. The laws are trampled under foot, and we are at the point of seeing ourselves in a worse condition than the Turks or the Russians, with this difference, that they preserve their religion, and that of this country is extinct. Religion, which keeps the people in awe, is vanished. At present our trade declines, our finances are exhausted, public credit lost, the people are sacrificed to the rapaciousness of the farmers of the revenue, and the fundamental constitutions are overturned; We groan under the scourge of divided Ministers, who indifferently execute their own schemes without consulting each other, we are oppressed by an hypocritical officer of the State, who was formerly the defender of the people, and who now is the cause of dictating arrests which subvert the order of the constitution, and kindle a civil war not only among the people, but between the King and the Princes of the blood and the chief Magistrates: The respectable officers of justice, the defenders and supporters of the people, are ignominiously treated in places of confinement like the worst of villains, and sacrificed to a vile set of despicable jobbers. Great pains are taken to prevent the Prince, who is naturally of a good disposition, from being rightly informed of the state of this kingdom; the wary prudent people are disgraced, and those of a different character, only are loaded with honours and riches; every thing is given up to corruption, and whoever is capable of inventing new plans of tyranny, oppression, and debauchery, is sure to succeed. This is our present situation, displayed in its true colours, without exaggeration."

We hear, a Great Personage has expressed a desire of Lord Camden's re-assuming the Seals, but, it is said, that his Lordship will not accept them, unless he is permitted to hold them for a certain time.

The Premier, it is said, is not satisfied with the present proceedings, and now thinks of throwing up.

It is talked that a change in all the departments of state will immediately take place; a war being on all accounts now deemed inevitable.

Messengers were yesterday sent to several members of the Privy Council in the country, to repair to town immediately.

It is reported, that the British Ambassador at Constantinople has been ordered to return home, nor will another be appointed to succeed him at the Ottoman Port, during the present troubles in the Levant.

It is reported, that another British Ambassador at a certain court has received letters of recall.

An evening paper says, letters now in town assure, that dispatches have been received by the French Court, from the Ottoman Porte, wherein the King of France is most earnestly entreated to afford them succour; for which a subsidy, and an extension of the trade, is offered.

Stocks fell this day five per cent.

A letter from Dublin says, "There are no less than six new places making here: They are to be called commissioners of accounts. The first commissioner is to have 750l. a year, and the other 500l. a year each."

Yesterday the master lightermen applied at the Admiralty for protections for their apprentices.

Late last night a press gang visited, unexpectedly, several houses of ill fame in Covent garden and Drury lane, and carried off a number of idle bul- lies, who had long been the terror and nuisance of that neighbourhood.

It is said the prospect of a speedy war, has occasioned an alteration in the plan of operations respecting the colonies.

The regiments ordered to Minorca, in order to relieve the troops already there, and which were to have sailed in a few days, were yesterday countermanded; and it is thought, they will be sent to Jamaica.

Sixteen ships of the line are now building as fast as possible at Plymouth-dock, though many of the old ships are not as yet put into commission. This manœuvre is considered as a political deception to foreign powers, that they should not imagine we were repairing our marine too fast.

Yesterday morning a tender sailing down the river full of impressed men, was suddenly stopp'd by the captives, who found means to open one of the hatches, and immediately issuing upon deck, where forming in a body, they overpowered the officers and crew, and made themselves masters of the vessel without much violence or any bloodshed. The victors run the tender ashore at Grays in Essex, to the number of 150, from whence they marched into the country, and divided into two bodies, one towards Rufford, the other to Bow. Besides the clouds which are hanging over this country from the storms in Europe, we have the very best authority for assuring the public, there is great reason to apprehend an Indian war in North America. The bad policy in suffering all the Je- suits to remain in Canada, at the last peace, begins now to be discovered.

Advice was received last night that the Portu- guese minister has concluded a long agitated treaty with the court of Madrid.—If this important news is true, it at once cuts off the hopes of the British Merchants in the Portugal trade from redress, and joins an additional link of power to the united strength of the House of Bourbon.

It is asserted at the west end of the town, that immediately upon the press warrants being issued, the French and Spanish Ambassadors dispatched cour- riers with the intelligence to their respective courts.

A report is current, that the Spaniards have a fleet of observation before every port in the island of Jamaica.

Whether the above be true or not, we are not positively assured; but this is certain, that the Spaniards have a considerable fleet in those seas, dispersed in small squadrons of three, four, and more ships.

When Capt. Chambers came down the Channel, he saw a Frigate going up, who they thought was bound to Bris- tol, design'd to press Men for the Fleet that was fitting out for the Mediterranean.

We hear that Mr. Latham, Surgeon to the King's (or 8th) Regiment of Foot, who is Mr. Sutton's only Part- ner for the Practice of Inoculation for the Small-Pox, in this City, has fitted up Apartments for the reception of Patients who choose to be immediately under his Inspection.

November 22d, 1770.

To the PUBLIC.

BY the Death of an only Brother, and otherwise, my private Affairs are so situate in England, that I have but little Thoughts at present of crossing the At- lantic.—Wherefore I beg Leave to assure you of my conti- nued Endeavour to extend the Utility of this Office to all Ranks of People, as well by giving the most easy Access in Point of Charge, as by effectually executing the general Business; and hope, with your continued Favour, still to attain the Summit of my Wish, "that decent Support, for which I am already so highly obligated." In Return, it shall be my constant Study to shew how much I wish to be the distressed Man's Friend, and how much to approve my- self on all Occasions, the Public's faithful, and very devoted SERVANT,

JOHN C. KNAPP,

Attorney at Law, de B. R.

I find it necessary to observe, many Persons are dis- tressed from applying to me in Matters of Law and Equity, on the Suggestion of some bittermost Friends, that however candid and just my Advice may be, the Necessity of an after Application to some immediate Practitioner, renders it use- less: In Answer to which, the Profession well know, scarce one Case in ten absolutely requires the involving a Man into Law; there are other much more speedy and advisable Means to come at his Property; and to compromise those Differences arising between Neighbours and Friends, from trivial Matters, which brought into a Court of Justice, can only serve to oppress, not do the Practitioner any the least Honour: And surely, if a Man (in Matters of real Con- cern) goes to Law from incontestable Reasons, laid down by a disinterested Adviser, the Satisfaction must be of much greater Value than the inconsiderable Fee "of ONE DOL- LER," besides, the very Judges themselves, often give it in Opinion (where no Point of Law arises) that the Mat- ter in debate had better be left to a Reference, "the first" "and only Consequence, had the Parties been well advised," "or of themselves considered their own Interest;" which leads to shew the great Utility of the respectable Chamber of Commerce; an Institution that will do its Promoters the high- est Honour to the latest Posterity. Before a Man determines on going to Law, he should coolly consider his own Case, as though it were that of another; then, if he sees the Ne- cessity for Law, let him tell a fair Story, and be sure of the necessary Evidence, for, by deceiving his Adviser, he deceives himself, many Times to his utter Ruin.

A considerable Sum of Money to discount good Bonds, Bills, or Notes, and to lend on Bottomry, as well as other approved real or personal Security, in or near this City. 55 58

Sept. 7. Some advices of a disagreeable nature, it is said, were yesterday received from Spain.

His Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick will accompany his amiable spouse his august mother-in-law, and the Duke of Gloucester, on his return to England, as far as Ostend, and from thence will join his regiment in the service of his Prussian Majesty; whilst others assert his Serene Highness has been offered a very considerable command in the Russian service, which has been politely refused.
